Who Is A Christian?

I would rather God would call me a Christian than anyone else. It is nice to have the love, respect and confidence of brethren in Christ, family and friends. No higher commendation could be paid me than for those who know me to say, “He is a Christian.” This is far better than for them to acclaim, “He is great!” Or, “He is talented.” Or, “He is rich and handsome.” For God to call a person a Christian is the most wonderful of all compliments. God called the disciples in Antioch “Christians” for the first time (Acts 11:26). The prophet Isaiah said, “The Gentiles shall see your righteousness, and all kings your glory. You shall be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord will name” (Isaiah 62:2). This was fulfilled in the New Testament in Acts 11:26, “And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch.” The word for called in this passage is not the common word used for call in the New Testament. This word is krematizo and is used nine times and Thayer says of its meaning, “In the New Testament, to utter a divine communication.” Four times it is translated warned of God, once it is rendered revealed by the Holy Spirit, once it is phrased admonished of God. You will note that whether, warned of God, revealed by God, admonished by God or called by God, that it was always God’s doing, His action. So, these early disciples were called Christians by a Divine utterance. God gave them this name. The world has many standards by which it measures a Christian. The world thinks that a man who is good morally is a Christian. Morality is important, but there were many good moral people before Christ came and gave Himself for the sins of mankind. Others think that a man who is honest, truthful, upright in his morals and provides well for his family is a Christian. While all these things are commendable, and even necessary, they do not make one a Christian. In this lesson, we are interested in who a Christian is when measured by God’s standard. Peter gives us a full and satisfactory answer to this question of Who Is A Christian? in the first chapter of his first letter.

Bro. Guy Caskey wrote this in 1993 and it is so true today.
